President's Corner

I must have had an unusually busy summer, because as I sit her and write my last President's Corner, I find it difficult to recall the past few months. (Or it could just be age) In fact, a former Association President warned me that as soon as you get comfortable in the position and you are rolling along, performing the duties of the office, you turn around and the year is up. Truer words were never spoken.

Reflecting on this past year brings satisfaction that several things were accomplished. Being able to work with NCDOT in bringing changes to plan and deed recordation was definitely a highlight. That along with updating our handbooks, having a very successful school, drafting a job classification template, and seeing our newsletter electronically mailed have contributed to making this a good year.

Is there more, we, as an Executive Board and Committee members can do for you, the members of the association? The answer is YES, of course. But these will be the goals and visions of the members of the NCPMA this coming year and years to come, I personally will continue to volunteer and work for this Association and I challenge every member to do the same.

Thanks for a short, but great year!

Richard L. Davis, President NCPMA
